Dear Faculty and Academic Affairs Staff Colleagues,

Please see the message below from Maddie Anthes, Associate Director of Student Success, regarding annual Advisor Training Workshops for faculty and staff advisors.

We encourage new and returning advisors to take advantage of this training opportunity.

Yours,
Tim

Dear Faculty and Academic Affairs Staff,

My name is Maddie Anthes, Associate Director of Student Success.

The Center for Student Success, in partnership with the Office of Academic Affairs, is pleased to offer the annual Advisor Training Workshops for faculty and staff advisors. We will be offering the following sessions this fall:

Advisor 101: Advising Basics

October 6, 12:30-1:30pm, Education 113

Appropriate for new advisors and seasoned advisors who want a refresher, this training will go over advisor responsibilities, basic advising principles, and using PAWS to support students.

Advising Deep Dive: Student Scenarios

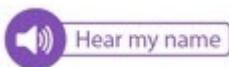

October 13, 12:30-1:30pm, Education 113

This workshop will discuss more in-depth advising scenarios and how to leverage campus resources for student success. We will discuss best practices for building rapport, how to create safe environments for students, and how to connect students with available resources.

If you're interested in attending, please sign up here.

Best,

Maddie Anthes
